

Good news for Health Futures UTC students on GCSE results day

It has been an exciting morning here at Health Futures UTC as students turn up to collect their much-anticipated GCSE results after the dramatic U-turn on how they would be graded. Pictured, one of our top students, Divine Makangou has achieved outstanding results in biology, psychology, physics, chemistry, English language, English literature and mathematics, Divine is planning on pursuing a career in forensic psychology. Principal, Ruth Umerah commented: "The students have worked very hard and their efforts have paid off. We are extremely happy for them and their families who have been on stressful journey. They should celebrate their results and be very proud of themselves."
